HOWES.

ENGLISH ANCESTRY.

The first of family enjoying any mention is John de Huse, who in 1066, A. D., received a grant of manor in Berkshire, England. From him in unbroken line John Howys was descended. The family settled in Norfolk county, England, in 1457, A. D., reign of Henry VI., from which time Besthorpe was the family seat for seven generations. "Thorpe" is old English for town or hamlet, and "Bes" is corruption of best, as it was an extremely fertile piece of land.

The following gives the succession of Besthorpe :

—Howys.—

John	Howys,	1457,
Robert	"	1508,	date of will.
Thomas	"	1555,	{ Coat of Arms granted 1519. Reign of Henry VIII.
Richard	"	1559,
James,	son of Thomas,	1592.
Robert,	son of	"	1618, married Ann of Caralton Rode, to which place he removed, and was succeeded at Besthorpe by eldest son, James.

James, son of Robert, date unknown. •

John, “ “ “ of Besthorpe, died in 1663.

Thomas, “ “ “ date uncertain—(here the name is spelled Howse,) married Tabitha, daughter of John Roope, of Morningthorpe, or Thorpe Hall manor, which has since been seat of Howse family. This place was settled in 1186, by Henry, son of Jocelyn, who had it of the Vauxes, by the Abbot of Bury. In 1198 it was settled on Wido, (guido or guy), who assumed surname of Thorpe. Was sold to gurness of Boyland Hall (circa 1412), in whose possession it remained 'till it came into the Roope family, probably by marriage.

It was the third son of Robert, viz: Thomas, who was the father of the Thomas, who with his wife Mary Burr, emigrated to America and settled in that part of Yarmouth, now Dennis, on Cape Cod, in 1637.

John Howse, who died in 1663, served as Sheriff for Norfolk county, England, and altered spelling to Howes. This is said to have been caused by a mistake made in some important legal document, bearing upon the family estates.

Morningthorpe name spelled Howes.

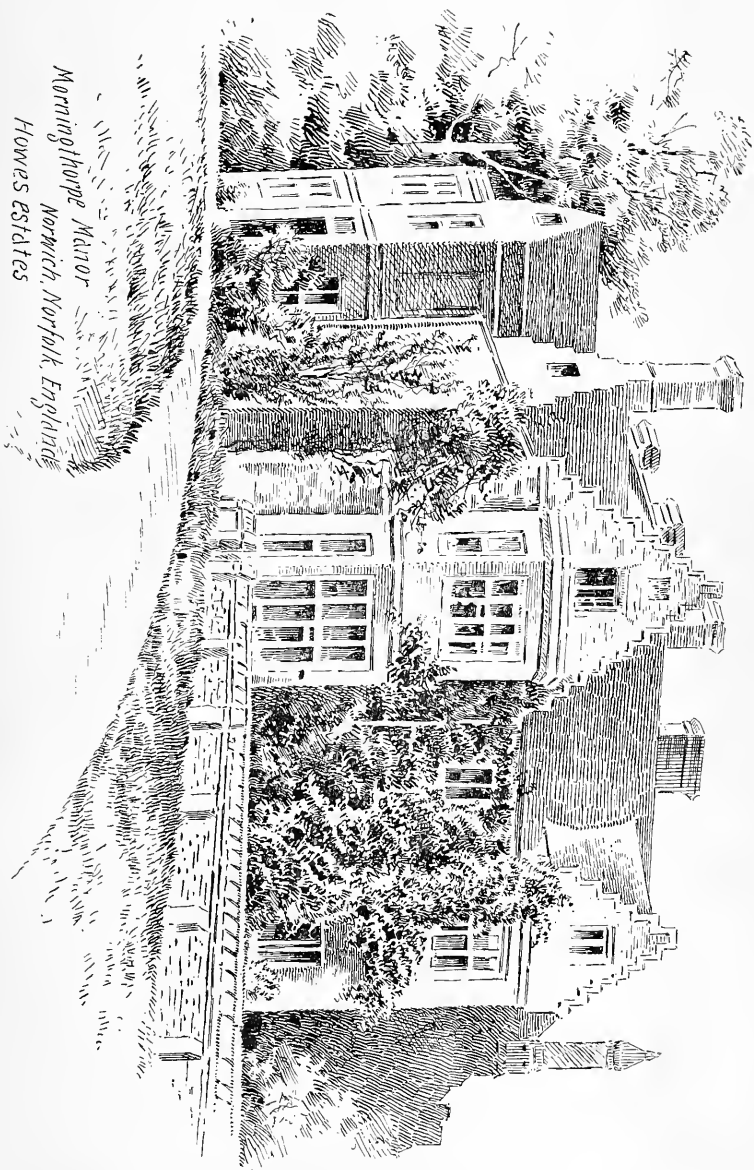

For the foregoing facts relating to the ancestry in England, I am largely indebted to the Rev. Reuben Wing Howes, D. D., of New York, who has in several visits to England, stopped with British cousins, and with their co-operation made thorough search and investigation in elucidation of the subject.

I have not myself found opportunity for such investigation that I deemed necessary to its satisfactory accomplishment, because of confinement by a busy life. And I own to a natural inclination to value more one's own attainments, rather than the virtues and attainments of ancestry. But the subject, if in no other light important, is valuable and interesting as history, and I am grateful for the aid which has been given me in presenting it here.

The difference in the spelling of the name in this case is not exceptional, as large numbers of ancestral names have taken on different forms. The name of Crowell, from which my mother sprung, has seen several changes since its introduction in this country, whatever it may have been in the old. The first grave stone erected in the ancient burying ground in Yarmouth bore upon it the name of "John Cro," who was the progenitor of the Crowell family hereabouts, and who constitute a large percentage of the population. The spelling of the name in graveyards and town records grew, step by step, from Cro, to Crow—Crowe—Crowell. So also with christen names. For instance, Elizabeth, to Eliza, Lizzie—Betty—Betsey—Bessie—Beth.

The prefix, "de" in ancient England was no criterion of nobility, but was used as we use Mr. before a name, and the Howes name through its several changes from Huys—Howys—Howse—Howes in manner of spelling, has practically retained the same sound, and doubtless there are now living different branches of the original family spelling their names Howys—Howse and Howes.

*Morningthorpe Manor
Norwich, Norfolk, England
Howes estates*

Thomas Howes and his wife, Mary Burr, the progenitors of the Howes family in this country came from the County of Norfolk, in England, and settled in that part of Yarmouth, now Dennis, known as Nobscussett, about the year 1639. They were in Salem, Mass., two years before, or in 1637., where they first landed.

They brought with them three sons, Joseph, Thomas and Jeremiah, the last born on the passage over, or soon after arrival.

It is well established that he was a man physically strong and robust, of good moral character, possessed a fair education, and was largely endowed with good common sense. That his character and standing was excellent in the community where he lived, is proved by the prominent part he took in the formation of the township where he located, and the many official duties he was elected to perform in the work of perfecting and developing its interests.

His three sons, Joseph, Thomas and Jeremiah, proved to be worthy sons of a noble ancestry.

In a genealogical work of this magnitude, one may never expect to reach absolute perfection—because of imperfect records to appeal to. If errors shall appear in this work, they may be partially at least, accounted for in the facts, first, that about twenty-five pages of the oldest records of families of the old town of Yarmouth are entirely missing. Second—that about 1674 the records of the town were destroyed by a fire. Thereupon records were made and substituted by thorough investigation and enquiry from house to house, until the vacuum thereby occasioned was partially filled.

The third obstacle met with, was the custom of the old time to name the children after fathers and mothers, uncles, aunts and cousins—so that there is found a half dozen or more of the same name, but of different families. Now as town records until within fifty years did not give the parentage of husbands and wives in records of marriages, it is left for the investigator to determine which, of several of the same name, is the one sought for.

Except for the errors, if any, which come from the circumstances thus stated, I think the Howes family may rely upon the records which follow as being correct as it is possible for such a work to be. And though there may be branches or twigs that have not been gathered in, there will be sufficient found here to enable every member of the Howes family to trace their ancestry to the fountain head in this country.

I am under lasting obligations to Mr. Wm. P. Davis, the venerable town clerk of Yarmouth, whose familiarity with, and ability to decipher old records—and whose labors in tracing the genealogy of the families of the original settlers of Old Yarmouth are of great value.

My friend, Capt. Thomas P. Howes, who has a taste for things ancient, and a knowledge and memory rarely excelled in matters of genealogy or biography, has kindly given me the benefit of these faculties, for which I am very grateful.

It would be an act of injustice, did I omit to acknowledge the material aid which I have received from Miss Flora Howes in the preparation of this work. And though a relative, I do not hesitate to pronounce her the best genealogist of her generation known to me, not only of the Howes but of the Sears, Hall, Crowell and other families—descendants of the original settlers of Old Yarmouth.

To Mr. Frederick G. Howes, of Ashfield, for statistics of families in Ashfield, and to all who have furnished data in regard to their particular families, or in any way have supplied needed facts, I am very grateful, and to such I tender my thanks.

I did not enter upon the task with a view of making money by it. It is impossible in the nature of the case, that I can get from it more than actual expenses. I do not expect to get even that.

I have been many years in collecting the material out of which this work is composed. I have tried to make it as full and correct as possible. If the effort shall be appreciated by the great family of the Howes name, and their descendants, I shall be compensated.

I have omitted all biographical matter because such would increase the cost of the book without adding value to the object in view which is strictly genealogical, and because it might make the author liable to the charge of partiality. We of the Howes family have a common origin, and shall all find a common end. Here, like the grave stones in a Quaker burial ground, there is no distinction.

In this work the name of Thomas appears at least seventy times, and other of the original names nearly or quite as often. I conclude, therefore, an index of names would be of small value. In order to find any one person it can as easily be done by following the numbers. All heads of families are numbered. All male children who become heads of families are numbered, and carried forward in regular order. Upon every page the lowest numbers stand against the fathers—the highest numbers against the sons, which are so carried forward. To find any one of these,—find any name in its branch and line of descent, then follow the numbers backward for ancestry and forward for descendants.

The families are classed in three branches, Joseph, Thomas and Jeremiah. In abbreviations, Jo. stands for Joseph, Je. for Jeremiah, T. for Thomas, b for born, m for married, () for generation.

GENEALOGY.

Inscription on the Howes Monument in the Ancient,
or Howes Burying Ground in Dennis, Mass. :

Here Lies

and on his right, his wife, Mary Burr.

She adorned her character by a discreet and virtuous life.

They were natives of England, and emigrated in the year 1637.

Their births, deaths and marriages unknown.

We, their descendants, from a sense of filial duty, consecrate

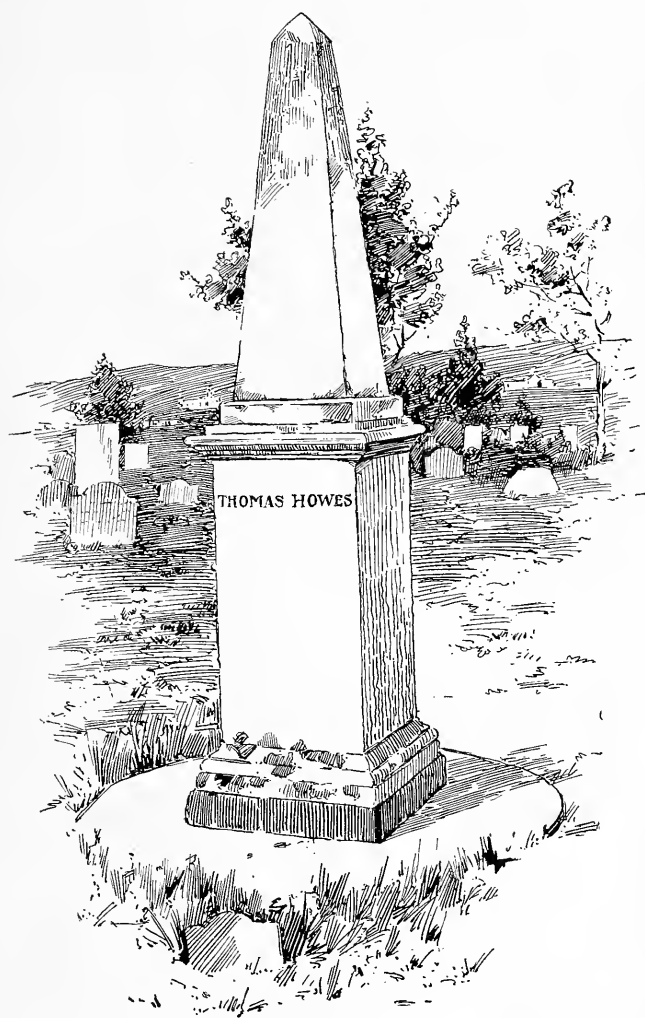

This stone to the first Howes that came to America.

'Twas from the central part of Briton's Isle they came,
And on Columbia's soil did propagate a name;
We their descendants the Patriarch own,
And to the first Howes, do dedicate this stone.

This monument was erected in 1834.

He selected this burial place for himself and family.

Descendants in Dennis, 345 ; in Chatham, 133 ; in other places, 396.

Inscription on the Daniel Howes Monument in South-east, Dutchess County, N. Y.

In the cemetery at South-east, Dutchess County, N. Y., stands a monument, a sketch of which is here presented.

Upon it is the following inscription :

DANIEL HOWES

was the lineal descendant of Jeremiah Howes, who was born on the high seas between England and America. Jeremiah, with two elder brothers, settled in Cape Cod, Mass., 1637.

A monument erected to Thomas Howes, and his wife, Mary Burr, parents of these brothers, may still be seen in Dennis, Mass. It bears its own silent testimony to the filial affection of those who have themselves been gathered unto their fathers ; and in traditionary respect, the sons of this Daniel have caused this monument to be erected as a witness unto their appreciation of their departed parent's worth.

“ Until the day break, and the shadows flee away. ”

NOTE. — See Illustration of Monument next page.

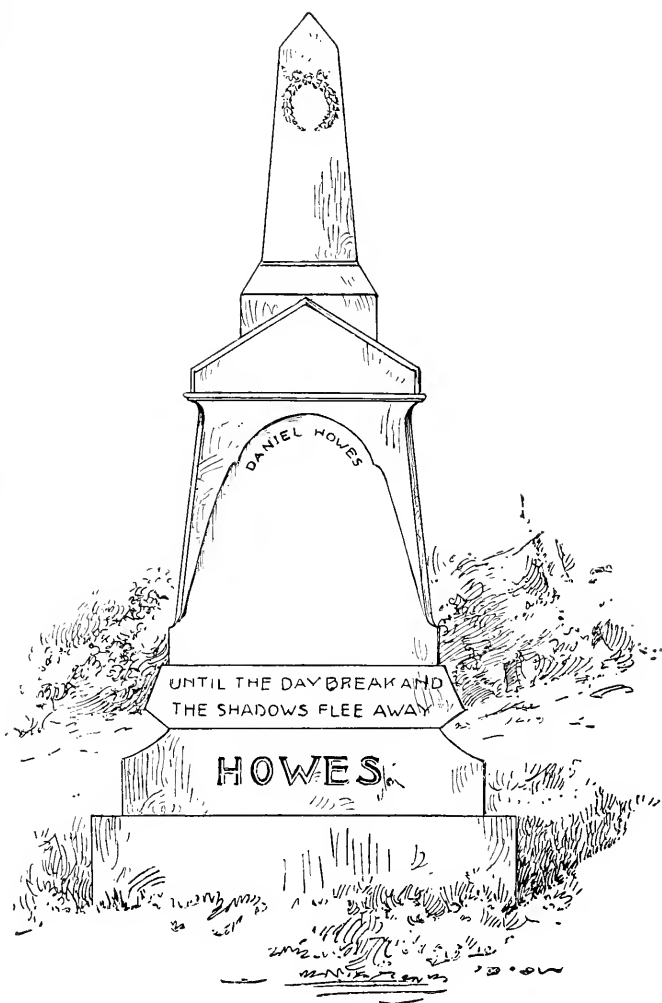

APPENDIX.

Of the descendants of Edward, the grandson of Samuel, son of the first Joseph No. 46 of this book, page 27, I have been able to find but a very limited account in the record.

I therefore enter here an account of the male descendants as they appear upon the Howes genealogical tree published in 1859.

This tree was planned by William Bassett, of Ashfield, with the aid of J. S. Howes, of Dennis, about 1840. It was put into a tree form by a pen and ink sketch drawn by the author of this book, who added the Chatham branch, and numerous other names and families about 1845. From this sketch additions and corrections were made so far as known, by J. S. Howes, who had the tree lithographed and published in 1859. The data for the Edward branch No. 46 was by William Bassett.

The sons of Edward, who m Marcy Vincent, who d 1763-4, No. 46, page 27, according to the tree, are Edward, 1; Isaac, 2; Enoch, 3; Simeon, 4; Joseph, 5; Abner, 6; Sylvanus, 7; Samuel, 8. It is probable he next married Sarah Green, by whom he had John, Jabez, Andrew and Gideon. His son Edward, who is recorded in this book No. 101 as marrying Sarah Green, whose children were John, Jabez, Andrew and Gideon, probably did not marry.

Of these sons of Edward No. 46, Edward, Isaac, Enoch, Simeon, Joseph, Abner, Samuel and John had no sons and no children known.

Sylvanus had Thomas, Edward, Sylvanus, Samuel, Harvey and Cordelle.

For Jabez see No. 213 this book.

Andrew had Benjamin, Edward, Andrew, Enoch and Lawrence.

Gideon had John, Gideon, Edward, Benjamin, Samuel P., and Enoch.

These children are of the 6th generation.

Of Sylvanus' grandsons, 7th generation :

Thomas had Jethro, who had sons Herbert and Willis.

Edward had James and Edward.

Sylvanus had Harrison, Chandler and Aron.

Samuel had Samuel A., Asa and Lewis W., who had a son John.

Cordelle had son Elijah.

The grandsons of Gideon, 7th generation, were as follows :

Benjamin had Benjamin, John and Albert.

Samuel P. had George, who has son George H., now a teacher in New Smyrna, Florida. His father, George, resides in Lowell, Mass. Enoch, son of Gideon, is a resident of Portland, Oregon.

There is a family in Mattapoisett, Mass., that do not appear to connect with the general branch of Howes in any record of births, marriages and deaths.

They are not traceable beyond the grandfather, whose name was

ABEL HOWES, his son,

Abel Howes, married and had

CHILDREN.

Sylvanus, Oakes, Woodbridge R., Alexander, Marshall, Thomas. Also four daughters, names unknown.

The name Abel no where appears upon any records of the Howes family.

Blake's History of Barnstable County published in 1890, in enumerating the names of persons who have held the office of Selectmen in the town of Chatham, includes the names of Ebenezer Howes, 1708, for seven years, sometimes contracted to Eben; and Edmond Howes, 1707, for four years. This I believe is an error; and the name should be Hawes, not Howes.

The records of that date are old and worn, the writing and spelling certainly not good, the latter decidedly phonetic.

The name gets different rendering upon the record as Hose, Haws, Hase and in some cases quite plainly Hawes.

Now as these persons names are not found in any records of births, marriages and deaths of the Howes family, we think it safe to set them down as of the family of Hawes, and not Howes. The others of the Howes name in the enumeration above referred to are probably correct.

In 1860 the Parish Records of the town of Chatham were destroyed by a fire. These records are very valuable in regard to all matters of ancient history, because in the first settlement of this Colony, the Parish preceded the town, and it is not improbable that they might have afforded evidence to settle every doubt in this case, as well as the previous one, of the origin of Abel Howes, who the children feel assured came from Cape Cod, and probably from the town of Chatham.

In this publication there are 2518 persons bearing the name of Howes accounted for, 1312 males and 1206 females. If the children of the daughters who have married into other names, yet bear the same degree of relationship to the progenitors, were included, there would appear to have been about 5000 people known to have sprung from the single stalk of Thomas Howes, and his wife, Mary Burr, who arrived in this country in 1637; and to this estimate may be added the fact that, of the 1312 males accounted for, 143 married but had no children.

Coming from a maritime country, and settling by the seashore as they did, it was natural, if not a necessity, that they became a seafaring people, gaining their livelihood from, and finding employment largely upon the ocean.

And so it is, that if in any one path of industry or pursuit in life they may have acquired distinction, it is, I am sure, as a race of Shipmasters.

The lessons of industry thereby inculcated, the self-reliance thus taught, the experience and knowledge gained by visitation of the ports of all countries, and association with the peoples of all nations, proved to be the best school and training to bring out whatever was necessary to fit them for the much larger field of labors in which they have subsequently entered as successful business men.

So that when the decadence in the shipping business took place, or from other causes they turned to other pursuits, the training already had in life, and its business affairs as seamen, enabled them to fill easily other places of trust and responsibility, in which places they may today be found, from the highest to the lowest, in all parts of these United States.

But the life of the sailor has its perils, as well as its pleasures and profits; and very many find the sea their grave, and its perils the constant anxiety of the friends at home.

I myself had four uncles; three of them found burial in the sea; I had four brothers; three of them found ocean graves. Each of them from different vessels, and at different dates. And this experience is barely exceptional in a community of seamen.

Henry Howes, one of the uncles, No. 171 of this book, was a member of the crew of Brig Polly, Capt. Casneau, in 1811.

This vessel became dismasted in a gale at sea, and was otherwise wrecked. But being lumber laden, still remained afloat, and what seems almost miraculous from present knowledge and experience, drifted a helpless wreck for one hundred and ninety days, in mid-ocean, without meeting a friendly sail, or means of deliverance.

They were without food except the barnacles which grew upon the sides of the vessel, and an occasional shark which they contrived to secure. Water was supplied only by an improvised still, constructed by the use of the tea-kettle and a boiler fished from the cabin (for the vessel was waterlogged) by which to convert salt water into steam, and thus freshen it sufficiently to quench thirst, or at least so as to sustain life. Through exposure and hunger the crew one by one perished, Henry Howes, the strongest and most robust, being the first after forty-three days of suffering, and at the end of sixty-five days Capt. Casneau and the Indian boy cook only remained alive. Capt. Casneau was finally rescued, and lived to be an old man, dying in 1866. In this connection may be mentioned the great gale of Oct. 3d, 1841, by which twenty-one men living within a radius of one mile of the former residence and burial place of our ancestor, the first Thomas Howes, lost their lives, eleven of them bearing the name of Howes.

All through these pages is found the announcement, "lost at sea."

But not all of the race took kindly to the sea, and many sought employment on the land.

Only two fields of employment seemed to be present to our fathers of the olden time, fishing and coasting, and farming. For commerce was then limited, and manufactures were undeveloped, and the question of today, "what shall we do with our boys?" did not arise. The boy, when ten to fourteen years of age, was put on board a vessel. There was no choice about it. If he liked, and was energetic and ambitious, he became master mariner at twenty to twenty-five years of age. If he disliked, and could not become reconciled to it, he turned his attention to farming here in his native soil, or in other more favorable locations.

With that object in view, many left the seacoast behind, and journeyed inland, taking their families with them.

Zachariah Howes, who married Bethiah Crowell, moved to Connecticut about 1750. His sons, Joseph and Zachariah, went to Vermont. Zenas, another son, who married Eunice Hunt, went to Mansfield, Ct., and these all had large families. Edmond Howes, son of Amos, moved to Hawley, Mass.

The following, with their families, went to Ashfield, Mass., where with others from Cape Cod, they founded quite a Colony; Kimbal Howes, who married Elizabeth Howes; Sparrow, who married Huldah Chase and Esther Kelley; Zachariah, who married Lavina Sears; Anthony, who married Martha Howes and Bethia Howes; Joshua, who married Sarah Sears and Mary Paddock; Thomas Howes, known as "Tom Sailor," and Samuel Howes, known as "Sam Doctor," and probably others.

Ezra and John Howes, sons of John and Thankful Blossom, went to Michigan. Benjamin and Enos, two other sons, went to Lenox, Mass.

Moody Howes, who married Hannah Snow, settled in Oblong, now Southeast, Putnam County, N. Y., from whom has descended large families.

Edmond, brother of Moody, son of Thomas, and who married Abigail Crosby, went to Barre, Mass.

Prince, who married Lucinda Lee, went to Canaan, Ct.

Jeremiah, (son of the first Prince,) who married Maria Morton and Hannah Churchill, went to Plymouth, Mass.

Jeremiah, son of the first Jeremiah, went to Pemmaquid, Me., and died there.

Lemuel Howes, who married Jerusha Sears, went to Industry, Maine. James Howes, known as Esq. James, who married Priscilla Sears; Nehemiah Howes, who married Dinah Sears, and Isaac Howes, who married Temperence Crowell, also settled in Maine.

Their descendants have drifted into other places, and from the farm into other lines of business, so that they may now be found as ministers and teachers, merchants and bankers, mechanics and tradesmen, and the many other branches of employment with which our country abounds.

It will be noticed that in the earlier dates in this volume, double or complex dates are given, as in the death of the first Joseph, 1694-5. This does not indicate uncertainty, but old style and new style in computation of dates.

THE BLANK PAGES.

The blank pages at the end of this work are intended as a convenience to the owners for inserting in manuscript an account of the families of the mothers of the Howes name who have married to other names, as may be desired.

To note additions and corrections to the record of which they may have knowledge.

And to place thereon an index to families in their own line of descent for ready reference.

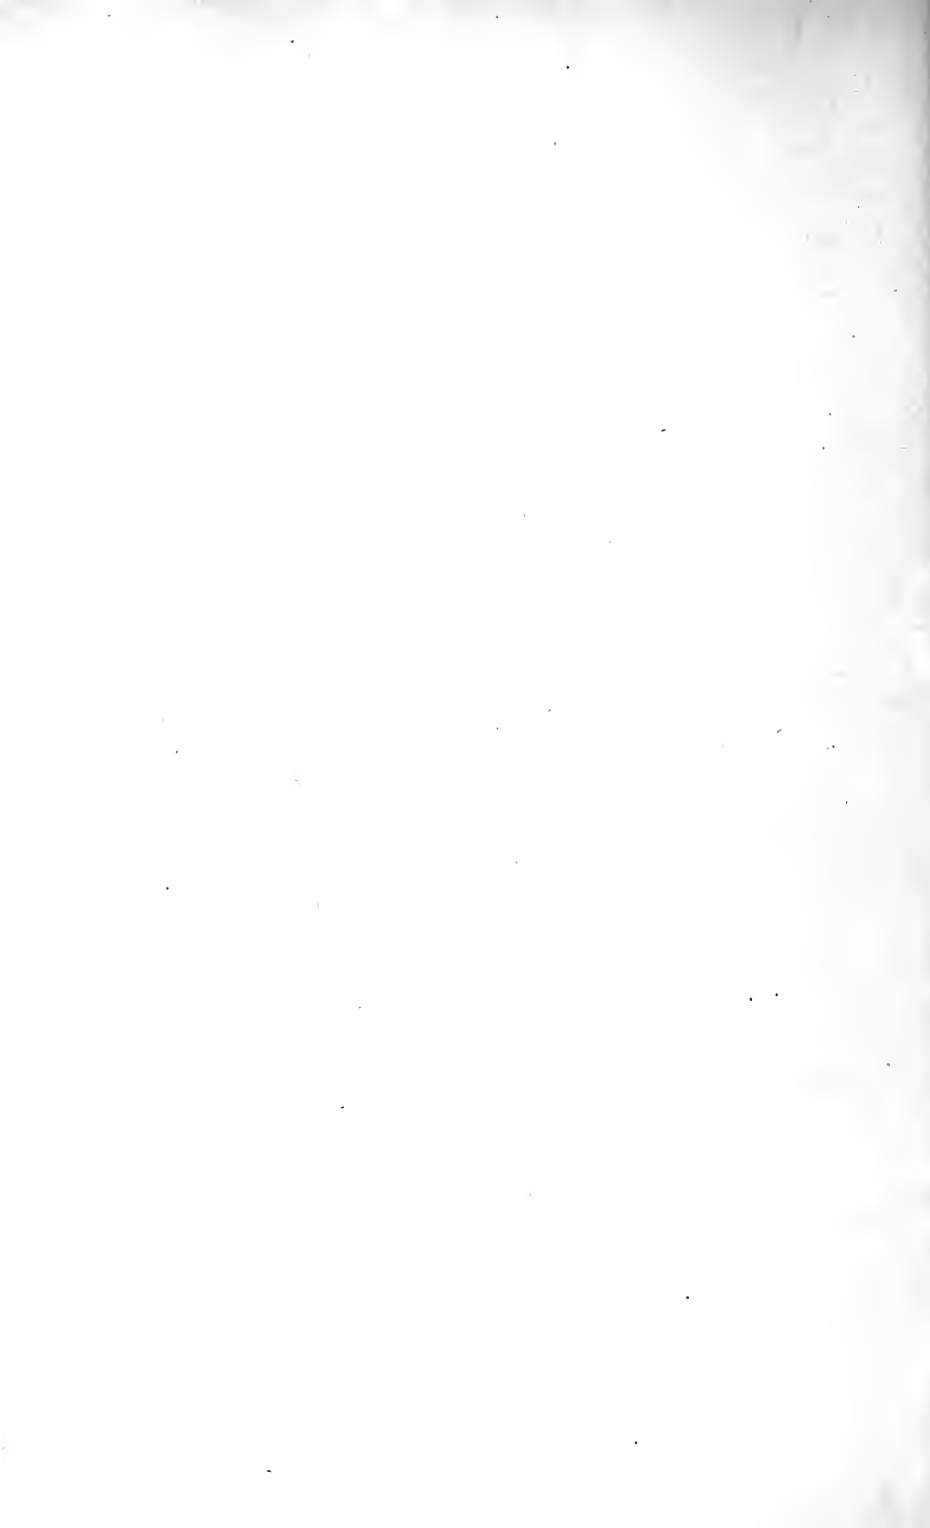

ERRATA.

Howes House in Dennis, built about 1700 by Prince Howes, grandson of the first Thomas Howes, and also grandson of Gov. Thomas Prince, whose daughter, Sarah, married Jeremiah Howes, father of Prince Howes.

This House was built by Rev. Josiah Dennis, for whom the town was named, about 1735. After his decease it was for a time occupied by Moses Baker, when it passed into the possession of the Howes family, where it remains to the present day.

Hall House in Dennis, built about 1700, by Joseph Hall, and owned by his descendants since its erection, two of whom married daughters of the Howes family, whose children and grandchildren have occupied it 117 years.
